

Problem Statement One-Pager

DESCRIPTION

A single page that states the problem in the language of cost or customer outcome, with a named owner.

DECISION IT SERVES

Whether this is worth any further investment of attention.

1 Problem statement

Write a concise, evidence-based statement. Separate facts, assumptions and open questions.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source

2 Target user / customer

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source

3 Evidence and baseline

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source
-----------------	--------------------------	----------------------	----------------

4 Business impact

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source
-----------------	--------------------------	----------------------	----------------

5 Root cause

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source
-----------------	--------------------------	----------------------	----------------

6 Why now?

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source
-----------------	--------------------------	----------------------	----------------

7 Scope / non-scope

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source

8 Owner & decision

Capture the relevant evidence, assumptions, owner and source of truth.

Item / question	Evidence / current state	Target / implication	Owner / source

DECISION / NEXT STEP

Decision: _____ Owner: _____

Rationale / evidence: _____

Next action / date: _____